Good News Is Here | 2 Kings 7:3-10

"Why stay here until we die? ...

for the Lord had caused the Arameans to hear the sound of chariots and horses and the sound of a great army ... We are not doing right. This is a day of good news and we are keeping it to ourselves."

1. Welcome

What is the happiest piece of "good news" you have heard recently?

What grace from Grace Time stood out to you most this past week?

2. Sermon Summary

Samaria, besieged by the Aramean army, fell into despair under a severe famine: to stay was to die, and to go out was to die. Yet God caused the Aramean army to hear the sound of a great army, and opened the way of deliverance without a single sword being swung. The first to discover this amazing news were four men with leprosy at the city gate. On this Stewardship Mission Sunday, we look at how we should receive, and how we should share, the most precious gospel God has entrusted to us.

1. What is this (Good News)?

The gospel is "good news." It is news of (freedom), in which Jesus Christ broke the power of sin and death; news of (abundance), which satisfies the hunger of our souls; and news of (life), which gives eternal life to those who were dying. Just as Israel added nothing to the defeat of the Aramean army, our salvation is not by our own merit but a gift given by God's grace alone.

2. Those who hear this good news and (believe) will live.

Hearing good news is different from receiving it by faith. When the people of Samaria went out of the city gate, they found food, but the officer who did not believe God's word saw grace with his own eyes and could not enjoy it. Just as those who looked at the bronze serpent in the wilderness lived, salvation is not earned by our effort but received by faith in the salvation Jesus Christ has already accomplished. And we must proclaim the Jesus we have met and walk alongside others so that they, too, may come to this faith.

3. We must give our (best) to share this good news.

The four men with leprosy at first enjoyed the food and treasure they found only for themselves, but soon realized, "This is a day of good news and we are keeping it to ourselves." Good news has a time to be shared. If we do not share it, it may become news that arrives too late for someone. Therefore, as those who go and those who send, let us offer our lives, time, and resources for the gospel and do our best to share the good news entrusted to us.

We have heard the gospel, believed it, and lived it. What remains is that we not keep silent. The gospel is the most precious treasure God has entrusted to us, and what has been entrusted is not meant to be stored up but poured out. Through prayer, through sending, and through our own feet, let us share the good news and become families of gospel stewards who save lives.

3. Discussion

- 1) As you listen to the message "Good News Is Here," why is the gospel especially "good news" to you?

- 2) If you have ever felt fulfilled, or been used by God, while sharing the gospel in person or serving as a steward who supports missions, please share your experience.

- 3) Let us decide on one person (oikos) to share the gospel with this week, and one thing I can put into practice to take part in missions.

Prayer Together

Lord, help us realize the preciousness of the gospel You have entrusted to us. Make us gospel stewards who do not stay silent, but share this good news through prayer, sending, and our own steps.
